

Tentative Agenda

as of 1/15/19

The healthcare landscape is changing rapidly, and although many view these changes mostly through a public policy lens, few other current issues have the capacity for such a broad impact on the business community. This conference, designed for both small and large businesses, will gather experts in the field to discuss current challenges to public health in South Carolina, a preview of the 2019 market, how proposed solutions will impact the business community, and how benefits managers can help their individual employees get the most out of their healthcare programs.
